Some seeds of doubt for Sinn Féin

by: Richard Colwell

As we move towards the end of 2022, it seems appropriate to measure the public's attitudes towards how the government has performed to date. Next month, for the first time ever in Ireland, the government will see a change in Taoiseach at the halfway point of its term. At the very least, Leo Varadkar will swap places with Micheál Martin, and a cabinet re-shuffle is also on the cards.

The first half of the government term has been defined by crisis, firstly the COVID-19 pandemic, then the Russian invasion of Ukraine, and finally the resulting cost-of-living crisis. Fine Gael received support for their perceived handling of the pandemic, particularly in the early stages of the crisis, but ongoing issues including housing and more recently, the rising cost-of-living, led to record levels of support for Sinn Féin.

In recent weeks however, press for Sinn Féin has turned more forensic and perhaps more negative. The links between the party and Jonathan Dowdall, charged for his part in the Hutch gangland murder of David Byrne at the Regency Hotel, are constantly in the news at present....HERE

Wishing you a Happy Christmas and the Very Best for 2023!!

Best Wishes

FAQ's

Logged out of a Survey

Please remember that you can now log back into a survey if you are unable to complete it in one sitting, or if you are logged out due to a technical fault or a server error. We hope this will improve your experience of RED C Live. If you are logged out, please wait for at least 15-20 minutes before you attempt to log back in.

Quality Control

We would like to remind you that our reputation as a leading market research company is based on the accuracy and validity of the data we provide to our clients.

To ensure members do not complete surveys hurriedly or provide incorrect information, a series of check questions are included at intervals. These inbuilt quality control questions appear on every survey and are administered to everyone equally. Answers provided by members who failed the Quality Control check are not included in the survey results.

We appreciate that this can be frustrating when a genuine mistake is made, however, we are unable to make exceptions to the mechanisms and allow members to go back and change their answers, so please take extra care to avoid being screened out of surveys.

Reporting issues with surveys

If you encounter an error or a problem when taking part in a survey, such as the screen freezing or otherwise, please forward us the original survey invite, along with a screen shot of the error, where applicable, to info@redclive.ie
